Important Events – CEO Comments

The year 2002 was extremely important for Lundin Petroleum. Within one year of the sale of Lundin Oil to Talisman Energy and the formation of Lundin Petroleum we completed the acquisition of Coparex International. This firmly established Lundin Petroleum as a producing independent oil company.

The Company generated fourth quarter operating cash flow of SEK 106.1 million (US$ 11.7 million) and profit of SEK 56.0 million (US$ 6.2 million) from production of 14,573 barrels of oil equivalents per day (boepd). These results are in line with our expectations at the time of the acquisition apart from the loss of the majority of Venezuelan production for most of December. Our forecasts for 2003 show an increase of in excess of 15% in production levels.

The integration of the Coparex assets into Lundin Petroleum is close to completion and will result in significant general and administrative cost reductions.

The year was also important for Sudan, an important area for the Company, with positive developments in the peace process which we hope will allow us to resume operations in the near future.

Our acquisition strategy continued with the purchase of a 75% interest in OER Oil AS which has provided a ground floor entry into the Norwegian sector. OER has recently completed its first production acquisition with reserves of 5 million barrels of oil equivalent (boe) and production of in excess of 2,000 boepd. OER is actively looking at further acquisition opportunities in the Norwegian sector.

In Venezuela our production was restored to in excess of 80% of capacity in early January 2003 and is now approaching pre-strike levels. We calculate that the Company lost close to US$ 1 million of revenue during the fourth quarter as a result of the reduced production from Venezuela.

The world economic climate remains uncertain with added concern surrounding the current situation in Iraq. OPEC members have exerted strong discipline resulting in oil prices remaining well above $ 22/bbl. The Company benefited from the upward movement in oil prices resulting from the Venezuela and Middle East situations which have coincided with the completion of the Coparex acquisition.

Irrespective of developments in Iraq and/or other parts of the world we believe oil prices will continue to average above $ 20/bbl over forthcoming years. The macro position in the upstream oil business is positive – demand for oil continues to increase particularly in the developing world despite the economic conditions; production from existing mature fields is in decline; and production is not being replaced by the discovery of new reserves. As a producing independent oil company with an exciting exploration portfolio we therefore look forward to the future with a high level of optimism.

Exploration

The fundamental strategy of Lundin Petroleum is to create value through exploration. During 2002 exploration activity focused upon Iran with the completion of a 600 Km 2-D seismic acquisition. We have received preliminary results from the seismic acquisition identifying major structures for the drilling campaign which begins later in 2003. In addition the acquired Coparex assets also have excellent exploration potential.

Even though our operations on the ground have remained suspended as a result of the security position we have completed a Development Plan for the Thar Jath Field. Reserves in the field have been certified at 150 million barrels of oil recoverable and the initial production rate will be 40,000 barrels of oil per day. A full exploration review of the Block 5A was also carried out which identified a number of drillable targets with unrisks gross recoverable reserves potential in excess of 2 billion barrels. We are currently monitoring the security position in Block 5A with a view to a resumption of operations. This will allow us to recommence exploration drilling and enable us to develop the Thar Jath field.

In 2003 there will be an active exploration program with exploration drilling in Iran, Albania, France, Indonesia and the Netherlands where success will have a major impact upon the value of the Company.

Financial Results

The financial results of Lundin Petroleum for the year ended 31 December 2002 incorporate the Coparex assets from the 19 September date of completion. As such the income statement and cash flow for the twelve month period includes only a 103 day benefit from the Coparex assets.

The fourth quarter results as detailed above confirm the strong profit and operating cash flow generated from the acquired Coparex assets. The Company will invest this cash flow into our development and exploration assets with a view to boost reserves and production.
